

Journal of Japan Academy of Midwifery
Instructions for Authors submitting English Manuscripts

1. Submission qualification

Manuscripts should publish new findings of midwifery studies. The first or corresponding author must be a member of the Japan Academy of Midwifery (hereafter, the Academy) but non-members can be included as co-authors. Non-member authors need to pay a publication fee.

* The online submission system of this journal is run in Japanese.

2. Types of articles

This journal publishes the following types of manuscripts. Note that submission implies that the content has not been published or submitted for publication elsewhere.

Reviews: Broad overview of findings related to specific subjects in midwifery. Review of the literature relevant to the theme. (systematic review, scoping review, literature review, conceptual analysis, etc.)

Original Articles: Original research, logically presenting new findings that contribute to the development of midwifery.

Data and others: Summary of data derived from surveys or cases. Requested or accepted by the Editorial Board.

3. Submission of manuscripts

Manuscripts must be submitted through the online submission system (Japanese instructions only). The Japan Academy of Midwifery website contains the link to access the online submission system and the online submission Manual.

4. Receipt and acceptance of papers

1) The date the online submission system receives the manuscript is taken as the received date, and manuscript ID confirmation will be returned by e-mail.

2) Acceptance or rejection of manuscripts is decided by the Editorial Board after multiple peer review. However, acceptance of the manuscript may be conditional upon revising the manuscript or changing the type of manuscript.

3) Review is conducted in a single-blind manner, in which the reviewer is not revealed to the author, but the author is revealed to the reviewer.

4) After final acceptance of a manuscript, the file of the final version is required.

5. Ethical considerations

Authors must state that ethical consideration has been taken for research involving either human or animal subjects. The name of the local ethics committee and the approval number issued by the local ethics committee should be stated in the manuscript.

6. Disclosure of conflicts of interest

On the "Conflict of Interest (COI) Declaration" form specified by the Academy, the author (including co-authors) should declare any conflicts of interest (COI) with companies, organizations or groups related to the contents of the paper within the past year preceding manuscript submission, and then upload the form to the online submission system. Also, the statement of conflicts of interest that should be disclosed should be included at the end of the manuscript. In the absence of conflicts of interest to be disclosed, the authors should state: "There are no conflicts of interest to be disclosed regarding the contents of this paper."

7. Copyright

1) The copyright of papers published in the Journal of Japan Academy of Midwifery (hereafter, this Journal) belongs to the Academy. However, this does not preclude the use of papers published in the Journal for reprinting, reproduction, translation, etc., as long as it is clear that the purpose is for education or research. Regardless of whether the user is the author of the paper in question, reprinting, etc. may be carried out without requesting permission from the Academy, provided that the source information (journal name, publication volume, page number, etc.) is clearly indicated.

- 2) Quotation from other works within the manuscript to be submitted must comply with copyright law. If reproducing text, tables and figures, etc. beyond the scope of quotation, upload the permission document from the copyright owner to the online submission system together with the manuscript file.
- 3) After authors confirm the contents of the "Japan Academy of Midwifery Copyright Regulations", each author should complete and sign the "Copyright Transfer Document" designated by the Academy at the time of manuscript submission, save the document as an electronic file and upload it to the online submission system.

8. Prohibition of duplicate submissions

Do not submit manuscripts to this Journal with the same content as those submitted to or published by other publications. The same content means that it is semantically identical irrespective of the language used, and includes very similar contents.

9. Costs borne by authors

Publication is free as a rule, but authors shall bear the actual cost for:

- 1) Excess pages exceeding the prescribed number of pages if the Editorial Board exceptionally approves the excess due to its contents.
- 2) Non-member co-authors must ensure they pay the publication fee (JPY 5,000 per person) upon acceptance of their paper. This fee is not refundable under any circumstances.
- 3) Offprints.
- 4) Special printing technology required to create figures and tables.

10. Procedure for writing manuscripts

- 1) Submitted manuscript files should consist of a title page, abstract (approximately 500 words), main text, references list, and tables and figures.
- 2) The manuscript file should be A4 size, 30 lines per page (approximately 350 words), with appropriate line spacing. The font should be 12-point Times New Roman, with line numbers (starting anew on each page) applied to abstract, main body, and references.
- 3) The abstract should comprise "Purpose", "Methods", "Results" and "Conclusion". However, for papers that are not in research format, the abstracts can summarize the contents of the paper instead of being a structured abstract.
- 4) The submitted manuscript must be checked by an expert or a researcher who is a native speaker of English, and at the time of submission, a certificate stating the title of the proofread manuscript, the author's name, and the proof-reader's name is to be attached. In addition, about 5 keywords are to be entered in the online submission system.
- 5) Submitted manuscripts, including text, tables and figures, shall be within the following number of pages. The abstract and references list are not counted. The references list should be saved in a separate page from the main text file.

Review: Should not exceed 17 pages (within 5,000 words)

Original article: Should not exceed 17 pages (within 5,000 words)

Data: Should not exceed 15 pages (within 4,500 words)

Other: Should not exceed 15 pages (within 4,500 words)

- 6) The size of tables and figures are roughly equivalent to the following number of words; take the size of the figures and tables into account to keep the number of document pages within the prescribed limit.

Journal 1 page: 3 manuscript pages (approximately 1,000 words)

1/2 page: 1.5 manuscript pages (approximately 500 words)

1/3 page: 1 manuscript page (approximately 400 words)

1/4 page: 3/4 manuscript page (approximately 300 words)

- 7) Keep tables and figures in a separate word file from the main text, saved one per page, numbered in order,

Fig. 1 (including photos), Table 1 etc.

8) In principle, the referencing style is in accordance with the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA), 7th Edition.

However, for each reference cited in the text, only the first author needs to be cited and use 'et al.' for other authors. When quoting references written in languages other than English, write the title in English. (The title in the original language is unnecessary.) Confirm that the cited references in the text match the contents of the references list. Authors are responsible for the accuracy of all the references.

9) Create a title page and include title, short running title, author name(s), affiliated institution name, corresponding author name and address, telephone number, and email address.

10) At the time of submission, submit the "copyright transfer form" (see "7. Copyright"), and "Conflict of Interest (COI) Declaration" (see "6. Disclosure of conflicts of interest") specified by the Academy.

11. Submission of revised manuscript

1) Prepare responses to peer-reviewed comments in the Author Response section.

2) In the revised manuscript, do not leave the revision history /track changes, but indicate it with cover letter, underlines and highlights, etc. to show where the manuscript has been revised and added to.

3) Submit your manuscript by the deadline. If there are circumstances preventing submission before the deadline, please notify the Editorial Office in advance. Extension is allowed for up to 3 months (1 month addition to the stipulated 2 months). If the deadline passes without notification, the submission will be automatically withdrawn. Re-submission of the manuscript will be treated as a new submission.

12. Author proofreading

1) The author proof should be checked once, and processed to publish the article. Changes other than the essential correction of errors are unacceptable at the author proof stage.

2) Offprints can be ordered at the time the author returns the proofread manuscript.

Before submission of the manuscript, follow this manuscript submission checklist to ensure that you have checked everything.
